Bloodlines: Childhood and Family Lineage.

Finding the key threads and themes in the astrological charts of generations can lead to deeper understanding of our own patterns, wounds, traumas, gift and talents.

What did you inherit from your matrilineal and patriarchal lines?

For example, there may be traumatic patterns related to sexual abuse, war, addiction, mental health, abandonment and so on.

Family patterns also include the gifts of our ancestral lines and we can draw strength by acknowledging and celebrating these positive qualities. These strengths may include resilience, courage, creativity, a capacity to love and forgive or you may come from a long line of healers, astrologers, artists, psychics, farmers etc.

How to Begin?

Start with the person asking about family patterns (ie the client) and what is the main issue they want to understand.

Focus initially on their chart and their family issues and then examine the other charts in relation to that.

Eg why is alcohol such a big issue?

Or abandonment etc

4th and 10th HOUSE AXIS

- The Parents and their influence
- Our sense of safety and belonging.
- Early home Environment and how that influences what we become and the ways we move in the outer world
- Ancestral Lineage/Where we came from and where we're going to fulfil a greater purpose in the world.

4th HOUSE : Our Roots

- ❖ The sign on the cusp (I.C.) eg Capricorn
- ❖ The ruling planet eg Saturn Rx in 8th Hse
- ❖ Planets in the 4th House eg Mars = male energy, conflict, possible violence, background of war, military etc in the family line. Warriors
- ❖ Outer planets here are very significant eg Uranus (instability, fracturing, abandonment, family breakdown, mental health issues).
Neptune (addiction, alcohol, lost or missing parent, mystery, confusion)
Pluto (abuse, manipulation, control, secrets, danger)

'In the 4th House lies the ancestral pool... not just the mother or father but the blending of maternal and paternal lines.' Erin Sullivan

4th House – Sign, Planets, Ruler

- The most influencing parent: Mother? Father?
- Atmosphere in the family home.
- Ancestral lineage – where we come from. Family history.
- The Family story. What we inherited.
- Moon and Venus will be the mother - or can be a very nurturing father.
- Sun and Mars the father or a strong dominant mother.
- Mercury can be a sibling or siblings who took on a parenting role towards you.
- Jupiter is mostly a very positive parent image – sometimes from a different culture.
- Saturn can be either parent – the disciplinarian rule-maker.
- Uranus – separation, unusual parent, lack of bonding, family breakdown, fracturing.
- Neptune – lost parent, invisible, unknown, sick, alcoholic, drugs etc.
- Pluto – powerful, controlling parent, in some way abusive, dark, secretive, scary.

The Moon

In Family systems, the Moon, it's house and aspects tell a revealing story:

The child is living a primarily Lunar existence. 'Mother' is everything. The Moon is the primary indicator of what the child needs to feel safe, love, nourished.

Unmet primary Lunar needs result in many difficulties throughout childhood and adult years.

What is the condition of the Mother's Moon and her ancestral line?

Mother

- Sign and House position of the Moon
- Aspects to the Moon are especially significant and may repeat in a variety of ways as themes throughout family members eg
- Uranus square Moon = Moons or Suns in Aquarius, Moons in 11th, other Moon/Uranus aspects. (themes of emotional separation and/or distance, mental health issues, rebellion)
- 4th or 10th Hse can also indicate the mother.

'Woman in the person of our mother, is the first being with whom we are in contact.

It all begins with a true fusion of being..... the child is an extension of the mother without clearly perceptible borders. T here exists a participation mystique, a psychic flow from mother to child and from child to mother.'

Karl Stern

‘Epigenetic threads are passed down in the microRNA in body fluids [ovum and sperm]. In the breastmilk the love, wisdom and emotional intelligence bit gets dealt with.’

Patterns Repeat in Families

Families generate an entire field of energy that impacts on every member in it; eg patterns of abuse in families are often many generations old, and it is this family energy field that contributes to the problem.

We find the place, the time, the family that matches our karmic pattern, that gives us the opportunity to learn what we have to learn.

“Functional families are not static, are always flowing and continually finding new ways of accommodating, communicating, balancing, compensating and surviving.

Truly and severely dysfunctional families do not allow for change, flux or dynamic action and the homeostatic principle is very strong. There is always an ‘identified patient’, someone who is carrying the illness of the family-theme - the scapegoat, the black sheep or the circuit breaker. ”

Erin Sullivan : ‘The Astrology of Family Dynamics’

Cut-Offs

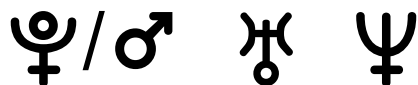

Who Did the Family Avoid and Make Outcast?

Making contact with cut-off parts of the family produces energy-level earthquakes in the family system.

The assigned roles in every family can exist only if the family structure remains in stasis.

Calling up your long-lost auntie (even if no one in your immediate family knows you're doing it) disrupts the stasis of the system.

The rigid role structures loosen or dissolve and you're free to create something new for yourself both within your own life and in relation to your family.

Circuit Breakers come into the system to break the pattern. They feel all the pain in the system that the family has suppressed through numbing and avoiding. Secrets being passed down the bloodline.... What the system won't face, feel, talk about. The circuit breaker may look as if they have mental health problems, are unstable, wild, sensitive, emotional etc

BLACK SHEEP SHOULD BE CALLED LIONS OF THE FAMILY

Within every family there are unique members who break patterns, the so-called "black sheep." "However, far from being a burden or a problem, they are in fact the lions of the family system, the scouts towards the liberation of the family tree.

From an early age, they often question beliefs, challenge traditions and pave the way for paths never traveled.

They are the ones who are criticized, judged or even rejected, but they play a fundamental role: freeing the family from repetitive patterns that cause frustration for generations.

These revolutionary spirits who do not fit in, those who cry out for revolution and do not conform to the status quo, are agents of change.

They are the ones who heal, purify and they regenerate the family tree, creating new branches, full of life and potential.

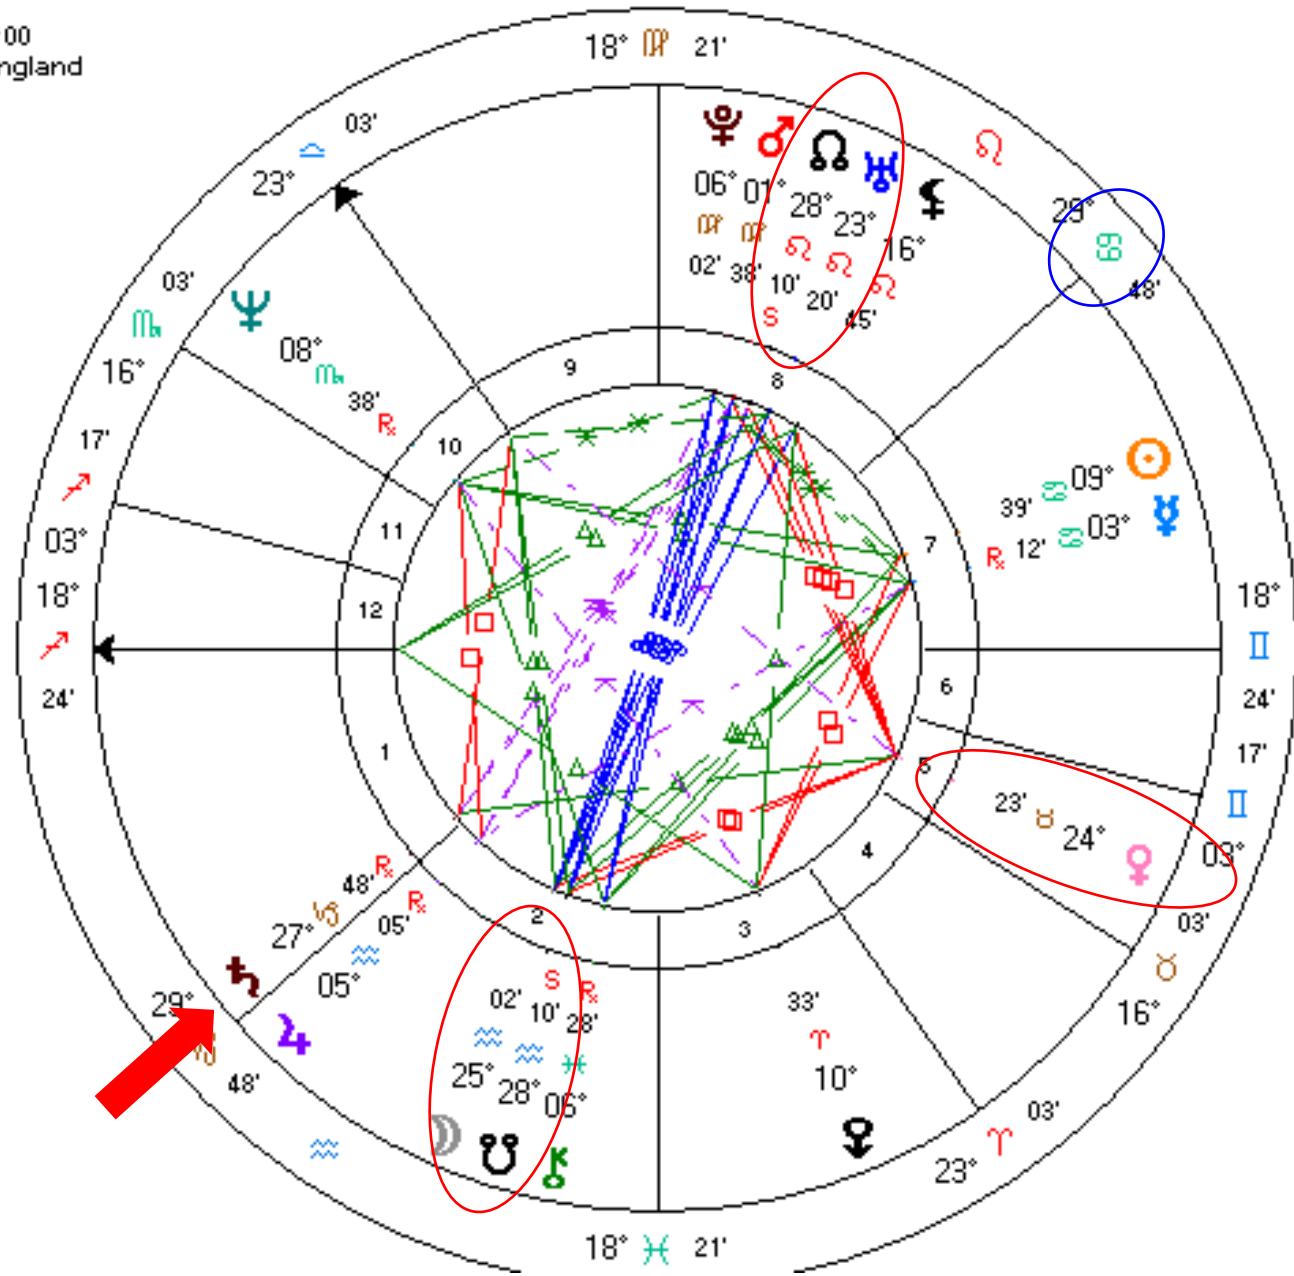

Thanks to their courage and perseverance, the family roots are renewed.

You are, in fact, the dream that came true of your entire ancestral generation and an inspiration to humanity.

Siblings – 3rd House: Sign, Planets, Ruler

We learn about relating from them at a young age.

3rd Hse describes them and your relationship with them.

Sun – a dominant, special sibling. Drama with siblings.

Moon – a nurturing sibling, probably female. Sibling as a mother.

Mercury – communication is important. Siblings are important in your life.

Venus – sister. Loving bond. Siblings are charming, beautiful, supportive.

Mars – brother. Aggression, anger, dominance. Competition. Fight for sibling – stand up.

Jupiter – lots of siblings .. mostly positive, happy relationship. Prominent, successful sibling.

Saturn – only child, or 1 sibling. Separation, loneliness. Formal relationship, not warm.

Chiron – sick, wounded sibling; wounded relationship. A healing process.

Uranus – breakdown in relationship. Unusual. Sometimes a sibling with mental disorder.

Neptune - estrangement, loss, confusion, disappointment, enmeshment. Drugs, alcohol.

Pluto – power struggles with siblings. Dominance, control.

Our siblings push buttons that cast us in roles we felt sure we had let go of long ago – the baby, the peacekeeper, the caretaker, the avoider.... It doesn't seem to matter how much time has elapsed or how far we've traveled

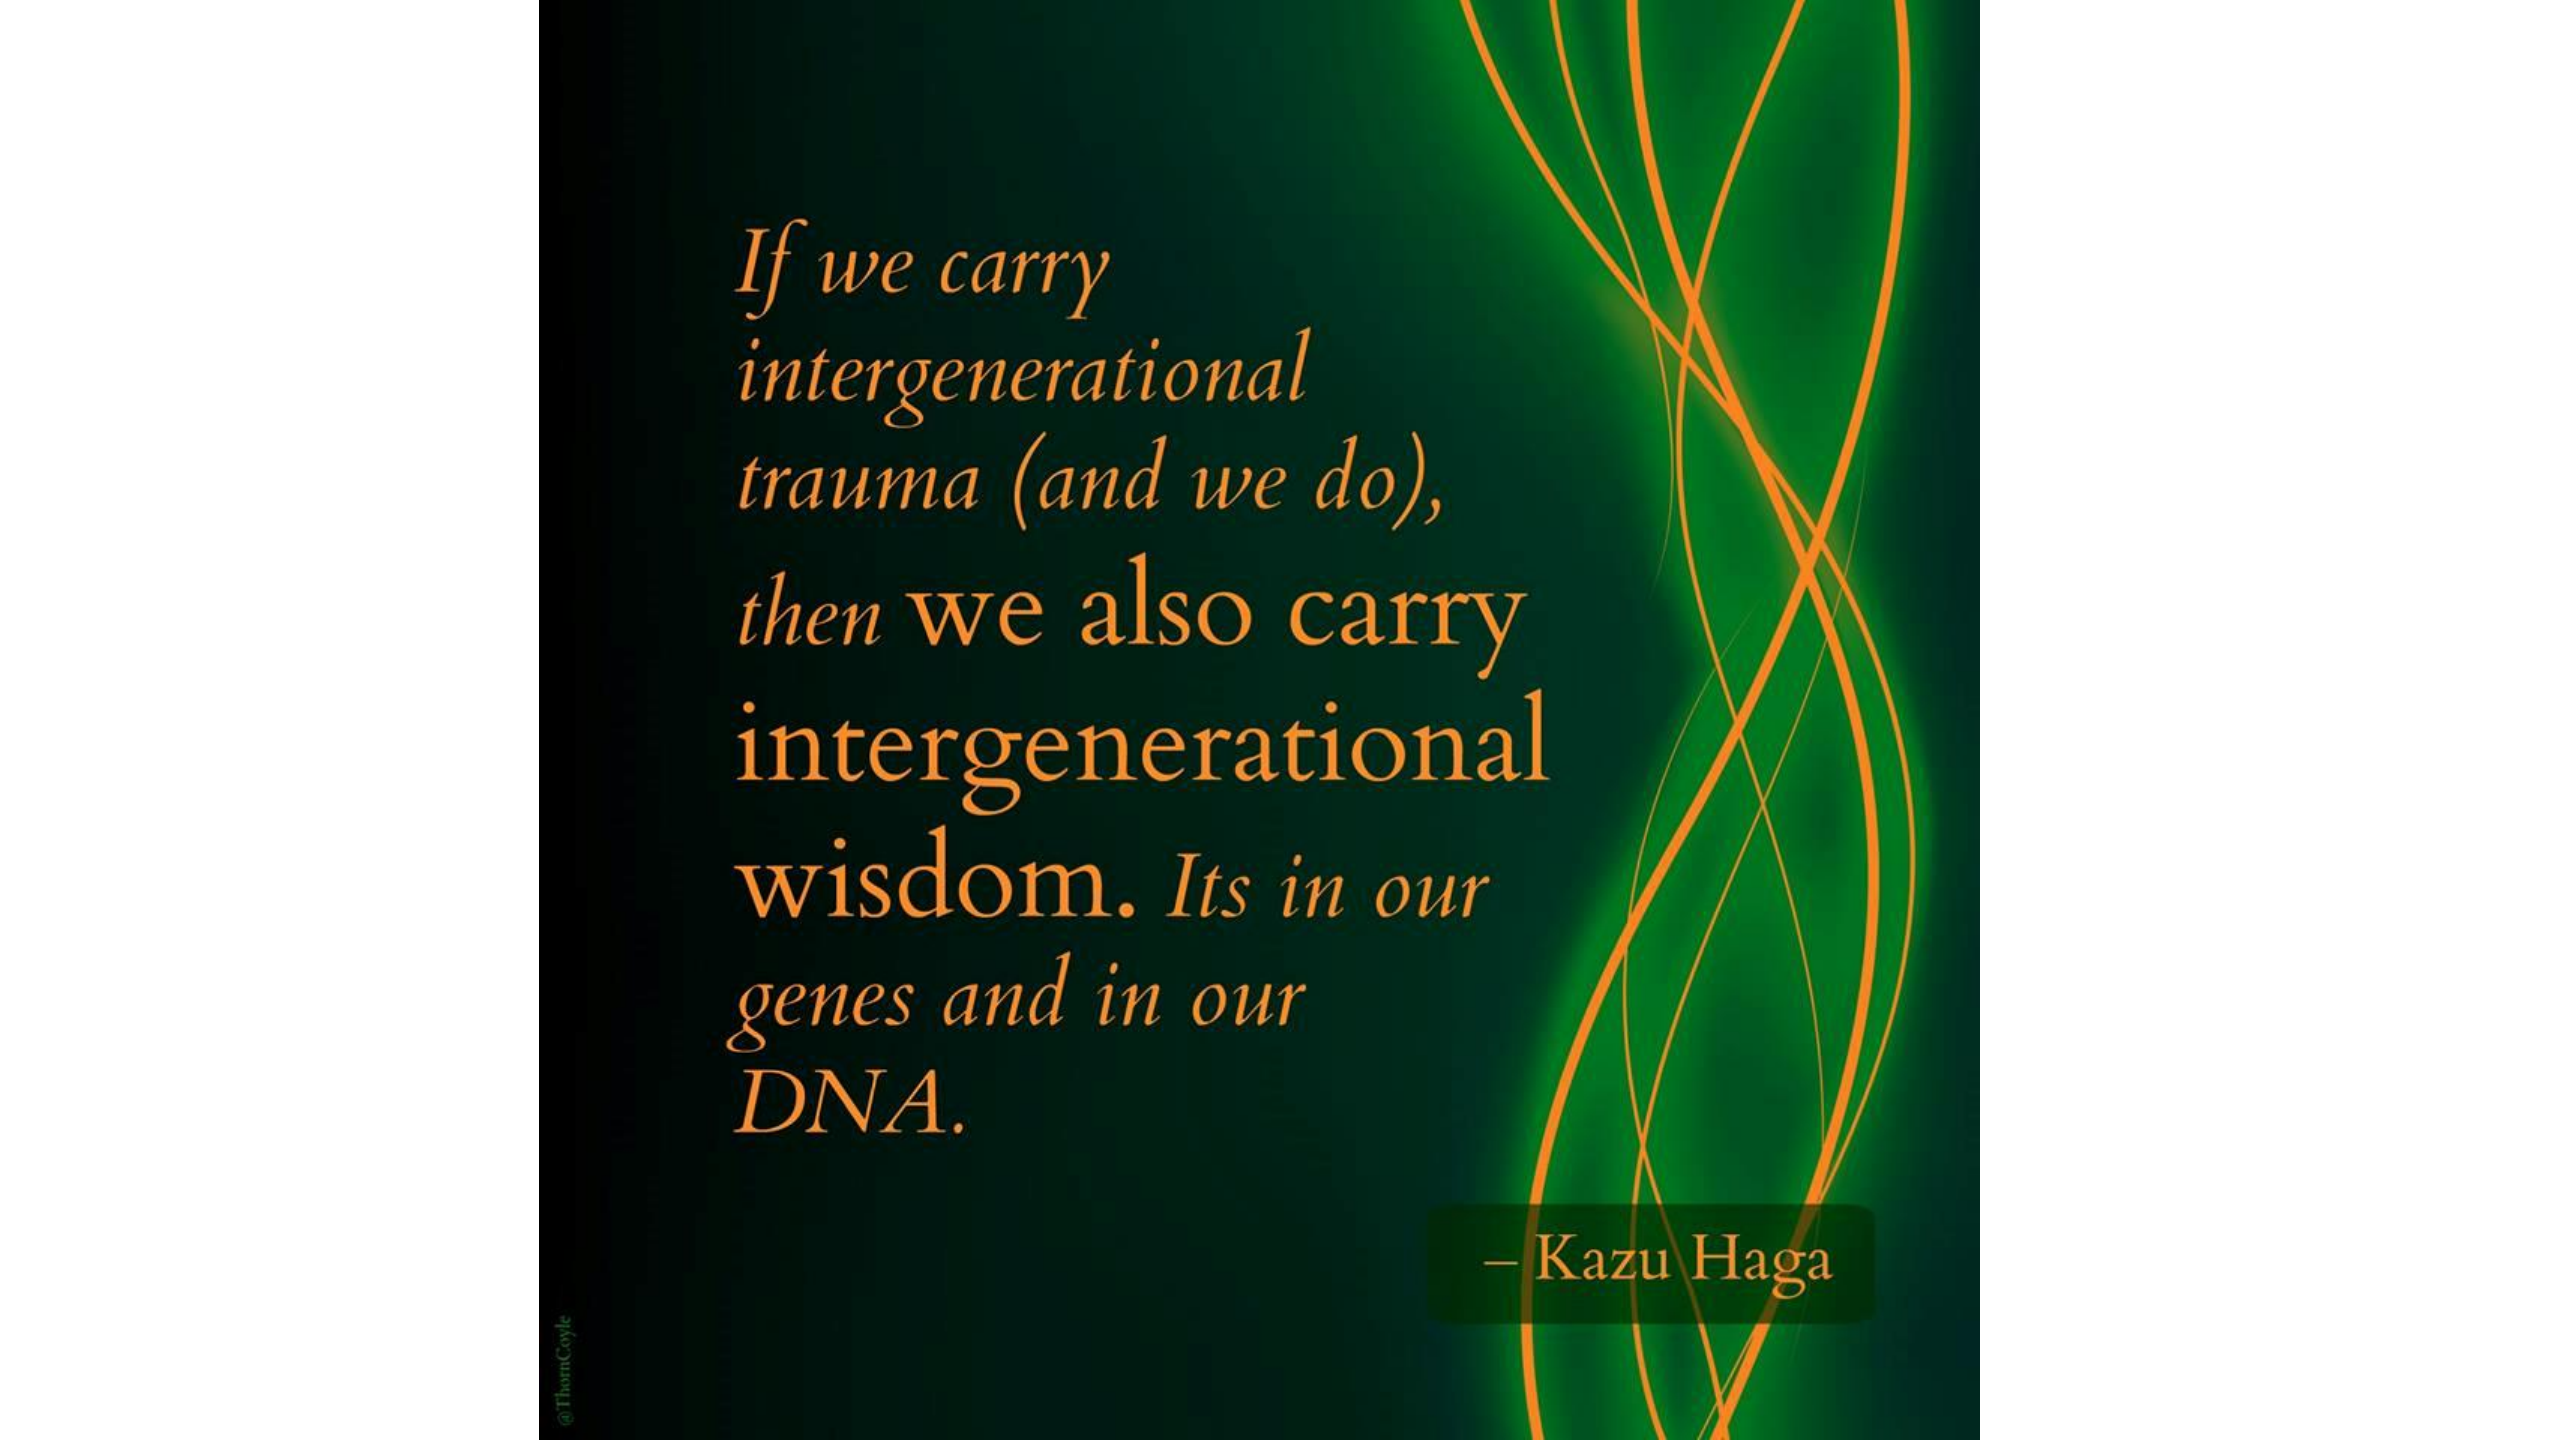

Jane Mersky Leder

"Emerging trends in psychotherapy are now beginning to point beyond the traumas of the individual to include traumatic events in the family and social history as a part of the whole picture. Tragedies varying in type and intensity - such as abandonment, suicide and war, or the early death of a child, parent, or sibling - can send shock waves of distress cascading from one generation to the next. Recent developments in the fields of cellular biology, neurobiology, epigenetics, and developmental psychology underscore the importance of exploring at least three generations of family history in order to understand the mechanism behind patterns of trauma and suffering that repeat."

Parent and Child

If an individual has not dared to live his own life, he will unconsciously attempt to live it through his children.

We cannot blame him because he is unconscious, but we must recognise the violation and the damage his violation often entails.....

Nothing dies that is not lived out. If it has been unlived in the parent, it may live a secret life in the unconscious of the child, and 'fate' his life accordingly." Liz Greene.
